FARRAND'S RULING ABROGATES SALE

LUTZ LAND THROWN BACK TO JURISDICTION OF EXECUTOR OF THE WILL.

BROUGHT $100,000 AT SALE

Purchasers of Real Estate to Whom Title Was Never Delivered Must Appear in Court to Ascertain Their Rights.

Judge Farrand's decision, delivered yesterday, and printed in full exclusively in this paper, in addition to upholding the precedent established by County Judge Scott, that a guardian ad litem is necessary in all probate cases where there are minor heirs, abrogates the Master-in-Chancery's sale of the great land interests of the late John A. Lutz and his admission of the will to probate throws the land back under the jurisdiction of the executor of the will. It will be remembered that, acting under court orders which were issued before the present questions were raised, the land was sold at Master's sale and the proceeds, if the sale had stood, would have been over $100,000. Inasmuch as the will provides that the children of the late Mr. Lutz shall have but a life equity in the property and that upon their death it shall pass to their children, grand children of the deceased, the sale can not stand and the several purchasers of the real estate, to whom title has never been delivered, are out their time and trouble in attending the sale and appearing in the circuit court the first part of the present term to ascertain their rights. At that appearance Judge Farrand ordered that no action be taken until the settlement of the will case, which settlement was reached yesterday.

CITY BOWLERS PLAN BANQUET

AFFAIR TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK
—ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR ORGANIZATION.

The bowlers of the city are arranging for a big meeting and banquet to be held some evening next week, at which time they will formulate the plans for the organization of the various bowling teams and leagues that are expected to create a large amount of interest in the sport the coming winter. The addition of a large number of young bowlers to the list of clever pin artists in the city is sure to make the game more interesting and more popular this winter, therefore next week's meeting, the date for which will be announced later, will attract much attention from the followers of the game.

Mr. and Mrs. John Curran went to Hama yesterday for a short visit with her parents.

B. ALTMAN, NEW YORK MERCHAAT, WHO GAVE PUBLIC ART TREASURE OF $15,000,000

MEETINGS GROWS IN ATTENDANCE

REV. MILLER AT CONGREGATIONAL
CHURCH GIVES FINE DISCOURSE.

In spite of the storm interest steadily deepening in the evangelistic meetings at the Congregational church and the young people of the west side are taking great interest in the talks by Evangelist Miller at 4 p. m. daily. Yesterday large crowd gathered to see the talk on "Character Building," and the interest was intense as old and young saw worked out the unfolding of a character step by step through cigars, cards, beer, whisky, revolver, dagger, prison and gallows, down to a ruined character and through Christ, prayer, the bible, the Sunday school, the church, the upward pull to the crowning of a victorious character, closing the evening with the great chasm between the church and the saloon. These talks have been given for three years at Winona Bible conference at Winona Lake, Ind., the largest bible conference in the world, and Rev. Miller has been engaged to return next year. Let young and old turn out and hear them, daily at 4 p. m. until Friday, when there will be an other address to women and girls, a 3 p. m.

QUIET IN CIRCUIT COURT.

Today was quiet in the circuit court, the Inlet Swamp drainage commission going to Ambog to look over the land in question. The present term of court is proving a quiet one, but is establishing a record for the cases being settled after being placed on the trial list, Judge Farrand stating that the number of cases settled this term has exceeded any in his experience as a circuit jurist.

YOUNG SAMMONS VIOLATES HIS PAROLE

WHITESIDE OFFICIALS ASK SHERIFF
REID TO ASCERTAIN
HIS WHEREABOUTS.

Sterling authorities today asked Sheriff Reid's office to ascertain, if possible, the whereabouts of L. J. Sammons, a young man who was convicted of stealing cameras from the Perry drug store in Sterling some time ago and who was confined in the Lee county jail because of the burning of the Whiteside county institution, until his parole to Probation Officer Geyer of Sterling a few weeks ago. The young man, it is reported, has violated his parole in not reporting to the officer at the required intervals and therefore his apprehension is desired. The Dixon officers, however, were unable to assist materially, as Sammons went to Sterling from this city when he was released from jail.

The local boys realize that they will have their hands full at the Ogle county city for Rochelle has always had a very strong team, but none of the boys are willing to admit that Rochelle has a walkaway with this game. Coach Hogan is giving his players some additional work this week and the team that goes to Rochelle Saturday will be the strongest that has represented Dixon in a number of years, according to statements of those who have followed the game carefully. Several intricate formations have been carefully evolved and the efficiency of the team work will be increased with this week's practice. A number of students of the high school of the city will accompany the team and cheer them to their best efforts for another victory.

Inasmuch as Mr. Allen's attitude in regard to the establishment of Camp Hope and his efforts to better conditions at the state penal institution have made him a prominent man throughout the state the Men's club is fortunate in securing him for an address.

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINMENT WILL BE POPULAR

Exceptional interest is being manifested in the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course which will open next Monday evening at the Dixon opera house with a concert by the Fischer-Schipp company, and there is no doubt but that a large audience will greet the entertainers at that time. The local association has given its patrons some exceptionally fine talent in recent years and the announcement that this year's program is the most expensive ever attempted by the association will surely draw a great many additional patrons. The reserved seat sale for Monday evening's entertainment will open Friday morning at the Y. M. C. A. building.

DR. ARNOLD IS FREED BY JURY

ON MOTION OF GOVERNMENT
VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY IS RETURNED.

MRS. ENZLER DOES NOT TESTIFY

Arnolds Receive Congratulations
From Many Friends—Both Are Happy.

Freeport, Oct. 28.—On motion of the government's attorney, the case against Dr. B. A. Arnold, accused of sending improper letters through the mail, was dismissed Monday afternoon. Mrs. Enzler, said to be the author of the letters, did not testify but she has made her confession to Judge Landis, the attorneys for the defense and the government. Following the verdict of the jury the many friends of the defendant who crowded the court room rushed to Dr. Arnold and his wife to extend congratulations. The members of the jury and the prosecuting attorneys also congratulated the doctor. The court room was crowded an hour before court was opened, and the corridors of the hall were also packed.

Mrs. Enzler in Court.

Mrs. Enzler appeared in court but did not take the stand. She sat at Attorney Tiffany's table inside the court railing and wept bitterly during the short session of court. In his motion in favor of the defendant Attorney Godman said:

"Since the adjournment of this court on Friday at 5 o'clock certain matters have been brought to the attention of the prosecuting officials in this case which we desire the court to learn. Until 5 o'clock Friday evening the testimony given by handwriting experts, of skilled ability, showed the many similarities of the handwriting in the anonymous letters and the 'standards' written by the defendant, and it was testified that the defendant had apparently written the anonymous letters. Since that time third party has confessed to having written the letters. She has given specimens of her handwriting and it is evident that it was the person who confessed who wrote the letters and not the defendant in the case. In this basis I move that the court instruct the jury to return a verdict of no guilty."

The jury was then so instructed by the court and the verdict was returned, clearing Dr. Arnold of all the charges.

Mrs. Enzler Free.

Mrs. Enzler was allowed to go free but it is understood that she has been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Godman spoke further as follows: "It appears that the defense had knowledge of the fact that another person had written the letter for a long time, and had they so informed the government officials the case would have been investigated and this trial would never have been started."

Arnolds Happy.

Aside from expressing their thankfulness and appreciation of the loyalty of Attorney Tiffany and their many friends, Dr. and Mrs. Arnold had nothing to say except these words: "If God be with us, who can be against us?"

Judge Thanks Jury.

Before discharging the jury Judge Landis expressed his appreciation to the jurors for their intelligence and fidelity toward the matter at issue and thanked them heartily for their service.

When court was adjourned it required about twenty minutes for the bailiffs to clear the room, the large audience believing that court had not been adjourned and refusing to leave the room.

HARVEST HOME SERVICE.

There was an excellent congregation at the St. James church last Sunday morning and all appreciated the service of thanksgiving for the bountiful harvest. The decorations were beautiful and appropriate.

Dementtown Doings

Walch Depot Avenue Grow

We arrived on the avenue late last night, the rain falling in torrents. The merchants were happy and soon had a word of complaint.

Some time ago we had something to say about a bevy of girls pulling off a stag party. We are now informed that the same girls are planning a party, all members to be attired as "kids." We may have something more to say.

Fred Wagner has sold a Detroitter to Jake Rhodenbaugh of Harmon. Mr. Wagner is having a new steel ceiling put into his garage and making other improvements.

Siebolt opened up his place of business today with a good business.

Col. Brinton has returned from Peoria, where he attended a meeting of implement dealers, and as a side issue, a swell banquet. Senator Sherman was the principal speaker. Col. Brinton was called on to follow the senator and we are told by the Mayor that he (Brinton) made a good talk. We wish to say right here that the Mayor is opposed to the improvement on Highland avenue between First street and the river. This improvement will cost $3,400 of the people's money when the abutting property owners will get off with but $1,500 the two of them.

Patrick Drew has returned from visit with relatives in St. Louis.

Billy Jones office force had a picnic at the Rocks Sunday. Beefsteak was the principal eats. All enjoyed the sport immensely. James Ketchin of Eli's place, was there while Mrs. Ketchin visited with Mrs. Elmer Jones. Elmer Jones proved to be some cook.

John and Ray were out driving on the avenue Monday.

W. H. Cramer was home to visit the folks Sunday.

So was Phil Covert at home with the folks Sunday.

Mrs. Bert Covert and daughter are visiting at the home of Ed Frey in Rock Falls for two weeks.

Ed. Broach has accepted a position in Chicago.

Sam Miller, the avenue cobbler has gone to the soldiers' home at Quincy.

Miss Vera Lynch was home over Sunday from her school at Eldena.

John Kay took a day off last week in the interest of an umbrella concern.

Ed. Carey of Chicago was here on business Monday.

R. J. Ryan, a member of the Camp Hope party, was on the avenue Monday on his way to Chicago. Ryan has been discharged after serving four years. He went to Chicago feeling kindly toward all concerned in the camp. He praised Warden Allen and feels sorry for the companions he left behind. He has kind regards for the people of Dixon and declared he is going to be a man the rest of his life.

B. F. Davis has resigned his position as night ticket clerk at the C. & S. W. and will accept a position at Martin's store. John Hippie of this city has been given the place vacated by Mr. Davis.

Remember your mistakes only that you may profit by them. Don't spend time regretting them, but plug on ward.

English School Boy Camps.

We are familiar with the open-air school, but at Harrow, in England, the County Council is of opinion that this system is capable of extension, so the headmaster has arranged for every boy in the county school to encamp for a week in turn in the playing fields. The boys will sleep in tents, and attend themselves to all their wants, even doing their own cooking one day during the week. They will rise at 6:30 a. m. and turn in at 9:30 p. m., and there will be five hours' teaching daily. There can be little doubt that such a system carries with it many advantages. It teaches boys to be self-reliant, tidy, and useful, and will entail no extra cost on the rates, other than that of the tents, for the boys provide their own food.

Cottonseed Industry.

The annual output of the cottonseed industry is in value close up to the $300,000,000 mark. Until recent years the seed of the cotton plant, except what was required for planting purposes, was practically valueless, in the opinion of the southern cotton farmer. The seed was hauled away to be dumped into the streams or left to rot in fields. Today this is changed and the once despised byproduct of the cotton fields is steadily looming in importance. In the shape of oil for lubricant and table purposes, meal for cattle food, cake and hulls for fertilizer, food, etc., cotton seeds are a source of enormous wealth to the southern country. The industry, which only a few years back was unknown, is now a gold mine.

The Kaiser's Joke.

During the German maneuvers recently a company of dragoons was told off to represent a convoy of wagons. The Kaiser, riding over the field of battle and seeing a dragoon lying on the ground, said to him:

"Well, what are you lying down there for?" "I am representing a wagon, your majesty," replied the soldier. "Are you?" said the Kaiser. "Well, get up and go and join the others!" "That is impossible, your majesty," said the soldier, "because I have lost one of my wheels." The emperor burst out laughing and, giving the man two shillings, observed, "Here's something for you to get the other wheels oiled with."—Paris Matin.

Vicarious Burial.

A good woman's husband was dismembered and eaten by an African tribe. She, desirous of giving him Christian burial, was left no other alternative but that of exterminating, with the assistance of certain accommodating friends armed with the destructive weapons of our advanced civilization, the tribe in question, which had shown such a receptive attitude toward her husband. The bodies of savages were brought back to civilization by the avenging expedition and were placed in the grave, surmounted by a modest slab placed there by the widow and bearing the following inscription: "The remains of the Rev. —, beloved husband of —."

ANTHONY CAMINETTI

MILITANT IS REBUKED

Indiana Women's League Cancels Lecture Date.

Organization Refused to Permit British Suffragette to Take Up a Collection.

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—The lecture planned by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the noted English suffragist leader, will not be given in Indianapolis under the auspices of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana, as was planned by that organization. The meeting has been canceled by the Indiana suffragists and is regarded as a direct slap at the methods employed by Mrs. Pankhurst.

The meeting has been canceled by the Indiana suffragists and is regarded as a direct slap at the methods employed by Mrs. Pankhurst.

In speaking of the canceling of the visit of Mrs. Pankhurst, Mrs. G. M. Henderson, secretary of the league, said:

"When we first made arrangements for Mrs. Pankhurst to come here it was for a stated sum of money, but she afterwards stipulated that she be allowed to take up a collection. This we will not permit her to do."

Suffrage leaders declare that Mrs. Pankhurst depends on her eloquence to arouse people to such an extent that when she makes an appeal for money she collects far more than the amount she asks for giving her talk.

They say that on one occasion Mrs. Pankhurst talked before a London audience and that the amount contributed reached more than $100,000. Women took off their jewelry and put it in the basket after they had given all their money.

The suffragists of Indiana are not in favor of giving such a wholesale contribution to the cause of the English suffragist.

MRS. GARY FORCED TO FLEE

Stay in Chicago Becomes Nightmare of Telephone Calls.

New York, Oct. 28.—Constant ringing of the telephone bell and scores of messages that ended with pathetic appeals for charity drove Mrs. Elbert H. Gary from Chicago to New York.

Asked why his wife had fled so suddenly from Chicago, Mr. Gary said: "It may seem strange to you, but the telephone bell actually drove her away. It rang at all hours of the day and night. There was not a moment's rest."

"Every tinkle of the bell announced an appeal for contributions for some charity. They were all such earnest appeals that it was almost impossible to refuse. She stood it as long as she could."

WOUNDS FROM HATPIN KILL

Highwayman's Intended Victim Fatally Stabs Him.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—John Niemitz, a South Chicago man, made a deathbed confession at the county hospital that the wounds which caused the blood poisoning of which he later died, were inflicted by Mrs. Josephine Karmelchuk, whom he had attacked.

Mrs. Karmelchuk, according to Niemitz's confession, stabbed him several times in the face and body when he had commanded her to give him her pocketbook and had sprung at her.

Just in time to get in. We refer to the school entertainment in the opera house on Friday night. The school children of the local school have prepared a good entertainment and had figured on rendering it at the school and inviting the parents. It was thought that more might come than the school would conveniently hold, so they decided to reproduce the whole thing in the opera house and invite the public. Therefore if you will favor the little folks with your attendance you are sure to be well entertained and will not regret the time spent with them. Come to the opera house Friday night.

James Phalen was in town on business Friday morning.

Some of our village officials were in Mendota Thursday. We presume they were looking after matters pertaining to the village water works. The latest difficulty is the goose-neck. The one ordered was found to be the wrong size and another is ordered. "Water! Water, everywhere, and not a drop to drink," as in "The Rhymer of the Ancient Mariner." West Brooklyn could form a bit of "Line or two" very similar. It would run something like this: "Plenty of water in the well, and whose fault is it we have none to drink."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sommer visited in West Brooklyn Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. August Complain of Ohio are the guests of their parents and friends in our vicinity.

Plasterers arrived here Friday and immediately started to plaster the residence of F. D. Gehant. Mr. Gehant's house is assuming a finished aspect and with good luck and favorable weather it will not be long till completion.

Ed Henry at the garage is having quite a time keeping a supply of prestolite tanks on hand. He recently received two consignments and hardly receives them before they are sold. There are but two left. If you do not believe the new garage is doing a business and is right up to snuff, just take a run over in your spare time and see for yourself.

Arnold's Unfailing Tact.

Recollections of Justin McCarthy are numerous just now. One of them speaks of a conversation between McCarthy and Dean Stanley. While they were talking Matthew Arnold was announced, and the dean, addressing the new arrival, said: "Come here, Matt, and let me bring you face to face with the man who says you are only a miniature Goethe." McCarthy was naturally embarrassed at the repetition of a remark that seemed to be ill-natured. "Oh, come, now, I didn't say only a miniature Goethe," he stammered, but Arnold promptly relieved the situation by remarking with a winning smile: "If he could only convince me that I am a miniature Goethe, how proud of myself he would make me."

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Made From Fruit—Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, don't sleep, eat or act naturally; breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and indigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Conrad Record:—A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamken, Wednesday, Oct. 8th, when fifty relatives gathered to celebrate their golden anniversary. The whistle of the early morning train announced the arrival of guests and through the entire forenoon, the house was ringing with greetings which were especially cheering, for the gray hairs and furrowed cheeks were in the majority, the hearts were young and happy, and the attentions of old age were for gotten for a time, and even the canes were compelled to stand in the corner and view the impressive scenes. Uncle John and Aunt Julia, (as every one calls them) were of course, the gayest of all the gray haired lads and lassies.

After a sumptuous two course dinner daintily prepared and served by their daughter and nieces, these girls and boys of long ago were invited to the beautiful lawn where they were to make lasting impressions upon the magic paper.

The day which seemed to have been sent as a golden blessing for the occasion, made it difficult to gather again in the large parlor, where we found Uncle John and Aunt Julia seated comfortably in rockers (gifts of guests) and beside them the little table which held tokens of the love of those near and dear to them. Back of the table were large golden chrysanthemums and roses which spread their fragrance through the room, making a picture long to be remembered.

Uncle George Klosterman of Illinois, in a few well chosen remarks then reminded the guests that fifty years ago the Rev. C. B. Thummel united this happy couple in marriage and started them out on life's journey in the little village of Prairieville, Ill., and who, after twenty years, came to Beaman, Ia., where they now live. In behalf of the sisters and brothers of the bride and groom he presented Uncle John with a gold mounted cane with the request that it be his support for the remainder of his journey, and to Aunt Julia a percolator with the wish that she think of them each day as she used it. A large gold lined bowl, a gift from the children graced the center of the little table and surrounding it were the gifts of the other relatives and friends.

Mr. Meppin, a cousin, gave in a jovial way, reminiscences of their early days and a beautiful tribute of especial interest to the family was sent by an absent cousin, and read by Miss Anna Lamken, a niece.

Uncle John and Aunt Julia are to be congratulated that after fifty years of struggle and prosperity they were able to gather around them two of their family of four, Mrs. Ed. Conrad with her two children and George, their youngest son. John Jr. who is living in Washington, was unable to attend. The eldest, Henry, deceased, his wife, Mayme, being present. There was a goodly number of brothers and sisters present. Mrs. George Klosterman, of Illinois, Messrs George and Henry Lamken, of Beaman, sister and brothers of the groom, Mrs. Sophia Falkers, Van Horne; Mrs. Kate Lamken, Beaman; Mrs. Jane Taddiken, Conrad; and Lewis Sartorius, sisters and brother of the bride.

Four friends who had attended the first wedding, the silver wedding and this anniversary, hoped to return to celebrate the diamond wedding. They were Uncle Gus Rasmus of Conrad, and cousins, Anton Freese, George Harms and Frank Brauer of Dixon, Ill. The same was the wish of all.

Present From Dixon.

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home

A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold at once, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualacal and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Verger Was Strictly Business.
English vergers no longer turn an honest shilling by admitting speculators to see royalty at church. But a few years ago one in a certain country church thought of something even better. King Edward had been occupying one of the pews, and after seeing his majesty depart the clergyman returned to find a brisk business going on. The verger had seen a way to assist the church restoration fund by charging loyal parishioners a few pence each for the privilege of sitting for a moment in the place still warmed with the royal presence; and he was astonished when the vicar summarily stopped the traffic.

Pagan Fashion.

The fashion of keeping little dogs as objects of luxury is not at all modern. Both Greek and Roman women used to have small pet dogs, over which they made as much fuss as does a fashionable lady of today over her poodle. Even men, usually foreigners, were not ashamed to stroll about the Roman streets carrying dogs in their arms. It is said Julius Caesar, once seeing some men thus occupied, sarcastically inquired of them if the women of their country had no children.—Ave Maria.

Iceberg Blocked Harbor.

Discussing the iceberg question, Prof. John Milne of London writes that the year he visited Newfoundland one of these ice mountains had stuck in the Narrows, which is the entrance to St. John's harbor. The capital of Newfoundland was bottled up. "A fort pounded at the intruder for a time, but they might as well have pounded at the Karakoram mountains. The monster stopped all traffic either in or out. On the third day, however, it heeled over and sailed away."

Not the Christabel They Wanted.

One London woman who had named her dog Christabel Pankhurst recently wrote a postcard to a friend, saying: "Christabel Pankhurst is too much of a worry; I shall have to send her away." Before long three detectives had called at the house whence the card issued to find, not the elusive suffragette, whom the English police were searching for, but only her dog.

TOO MANY HEIRLOOMS

By HENRY SCHREYER.

"No," said the girl at the museum, "let's not go in there. I just hate heirlooms!" she frowned with disfavor on the exhibition and turned away.

"I've been brought up among heirlooms since I can remember, and I loathe and despise them!" she said, shuddering.

"When I was a baby they began. My best dress all through my babyhood was the dress my mother and grandmother had been baptized in. Of course, if they'd been noble blooded, or something, so the dress could have been delicate lace, or something. I could have stood it, but I know my infant flesh protested against wearing for best a yellow old unstylish piece of heavy muslin that looked like a bath robe!"

"But it was an heirloom, and in every picture I have of my babyhood I'm inclosed in that thing! I'm ashamed to show my baby pictures for people will think I'm three times my natural age, from the style of my dress!"

"Then I had a lot of great aunts, with garrets, and when they saw that picture of the dress of ancient vintage nothing would do but they should turn over their rubbish and send me boxes of things almost perishing with age! Of course, mother had to fix them up, and she usually just did as little as possible, so I could wear them a little while and then throw them away. She felt that as much as that was needful, to keep in with the relatives. But there I went around, in my girlhood, with hoopskirts minus the hoops, and with moth-eaten sleeves, skin tight, when all the girls were wearing big puffs. And to appease me mother always told me that I should be proud to have heirlooms!"

"I tell you, if you want to look at heirlooms, look at me! Here I stand, a perfect museum! Look at this skirt."

"I Just Hate Heirlooms."

It was handed down from Mrs. Noah—or very nearly! Aunt Jane wrote that she had a good tailored skirt—she didn't mention that the tailor died in his dotage long since—and wouldn't I like it? It was hardly used a bit, she said, and she did hope that I'd appreciate it. She had kept it for years, expecting to make some use of it, but it was always too good to cut up.

"So I accepted it as gracefully as I could, for Aunt Jane bears grudges forever if she gets them. Now she writes every week to ask how it's wearing—and she's coming down this summer, so I've got to give it a little use or she'll suspect something. She's dreadfully observant!"

"And see this trimming on my collar! Well, my Great Uncle John found that in Venice once upon a time, I suspect in some former incarnation! The gold is all tarnished, and the colors are so blended with age that it looks like a piece of leather. But you ask grandmother about it! She can see it gleaming in its pristine splendor, and she beams on me whenever I come near in this suit! As she lives with us, I have to wear it on every occasion. I can leave it at home when I go to the store, on the plea of preserving it, but if I'm dressed up grandmother is right there to see that this collar is in its proper place."

"Why, they've grown so used to seeing me in heirlooms that my younger aunts send on their old shoes! And mother, being economical and desiring to be grateful for all favors, writes back to say how delighted I am—and then we get more! And each aunt brings to the others how generous she is, and their generosity grows!"

"Our house is so full of heirlooms—all moth-eaten and rickety—that we haven't room for a decent chair, and our pictures are all enlarged photographs! But they're heirlooms—ask the people who gave them to us and see if they're not!"

"Now mother's growing stout, so she's bestowing all her outgrown things on me!"

"Actually, I think when I take things off I'll just burn them up to save some one else the agony of possession!"

"Don't show me any heirlooms. I'd rather go in here and see the way gold and silver is made into money, to buy new things to wear!"—Chicago Daily News.

Plenty of Books.

"Compulsory education is a great thing," exclaimed the little man. "Yes," replied the big man, "but I notice that people continue to call up Avon 184 and ask for Mr. Wolf and Mr. Campbell."

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Should Profit by Mrs. Hurley's Experience—Her Own Story Here Told.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, organic inflammation and female weakness.

For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased once a month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world."

"After I had tried most every female remedy first, without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulcers, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

Exports Will Be Large.

The estimate that a billion dollars worth of manufactures will be exported in the current fiscal year, made by the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, seems likely to be justified. The official figures show for the nine months ending with March $730,000,000 worth of manufactures exported, these figures being $74,000,000 in excess of those for the corresponding period of the preceding year; and as the exports of manufactures in the year ending June 30, 1911 were valued at $907,000,000, the figures at hand seem to clearly indicate that the total for the current year will pass the billion-dollar line.

Find Valuable Fresco in Ruins.

One of the latest and most interesting things uncovered during the new excavations at Pompeii under the direction of Professor Spinazzola, is a fresco which is regarded as the best found. It was one of the ornaments of the facade of a house situated in the main public thoroughfare, of which the roof was in almost perfect condition. It represents the Pompeian Venus standing erect crowned with a diadem in the midst of flying Cupids on a chariot drawn by four Indian elephants. Seen from the front, the representation of these animals is strikingly realistic. The archaeological value of the fresco is extremely great, for the colors are very fresh and harmonious.

Cromwell's Army.

The famous army with which the Protector overthrew the tyranny of King Charles was officially known as the "New Model." The strength of the New Model in all arms—infantry, artillery and cavalry—footed up about 50,000 men. The "Ironsides," as they were more familiarly called, rarely lost a battle. Before the push of their pikes and the rush of their cavalry the plumed hosts of the king disappeared like chaff before the wind. The New Model was the most democratic army ever known, and at the same time, the best disciplined.

CITIZENS OF KOKOMO

HONOR MRS. PATTERSON

The citizens of Kokomo, the name of which has often caused joy for the comic artists, have shown their appreciation of literature by their memorial for Mrs. Virginia Sharpe Patterson, the author of "Dickey Downy." Fifteen years ago that work started an agitation which has since resulted in federal legislation for the protection of wild birds of America. Mrs. Patterson, who died recently, was the first editor of a page for children in an American magazine. She was deeply interested in the conservation movement. She was so well liked in her home town that they are going to name a park for her.

Vital Question.

Elmer E. Brown, the new chancellor of New York University, tells the following anecdote: "Near the approach of the final examinations a professor was cautioning his class against neglecting a thorough review of the semester's work and was pointing out in a general way what the examination would cover. 'I'll pause now to answer any questions,' the professor added, 'and then I must go and prepare the examination papers and hurry them to the printer. There was a moment of silence. 'I'm ready to answer any questions,' the professor repeated, smiling around encouragingly. Then a student in the back of the room, looking at the professor with a solemn face arose. Said he, 'If I may ask, who is the printer?'"

Sound Advice for Emigrants.

Writing in the "British News of Canada," an Edinburgh man, who went out to the Dominion six years ago and in that time has been in every province, says by way of advice to intending emigrants: "Come out to Canada, by all means; there is work for you if you are not too proud (my first job was the pick and shovel), but don't by any means come out here and think you are just as good as the man who hired you. Do your work, hold your tongue, and don't always be telling us how you do things at home; we are tired of hearing about it. Finally, remember that the man who pays you wages is the boss, in spite of the yams of the emigration agents."

MAINTENANCE OF GOOD ROADS

People in Many States Are Filled With Enthusiasm for Improvement of Public Highways.

The present year promises to be the greatest in the history of the movement for the improvement of the public roads of the United States, according to the reports received from all parts of the country by the United States department of agriculture. A joint committee of congress is engaged in an investigation of the feasibility of federal aid in the construction, improvement and maintenance of public highways, and a number of the state legislatures are considering good road legislation. In connection with the general impetus that the good road movement has recently had in all parts of the country, the director of the office of public highways says:

"Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of maintenance in connection with the work of improving the roads. The people in nearly all the states are filled with enthusiasm for road improvement and are spending enormous sums of money in the construction of superb roads, and yet almost without exception they are making little provision to care for the roads after they are built. This is true not only in the various countries, but under many of our state highway departments.

"To maintain the roads in good condition year after year requires a considerable annual outlay, but this outlay is infinitely less than the loss which must fall upon the people eventually if they allow their roads to go to utter ruin. The thing for all advocates of good roads to do is to urge continuous, systematic maintenance, and the setting aside every year of an amount per mile estimated by the engineer in charge to be sufficient for the proper maintenance of the road—a course which must make for economy and efficiency."

ROAD BUILDING

URGE NATIONAL GOOD ROADS

Recent Convention Adopts Resolution Proposing Highways From Washington to Capitals.

That national roads be built connecting Washington with the capitals of every state in the Union was the tenor of a resolution unanimously adopted by the national good roads federal aid convention at a session recently held in Washington. The resolution further advocated the creation, wherever they do not now exist, of "effective state departments in every state" for the construction and maintenance of good roads.

A proposition, made by William T. Page on behalf of Representative Slemph of Virginia, urging the appointment of a committee in the house of representatives to look after legislation affecting good roads, was heartily indorsed, although no formal action was taken.

Representative Moss of West Virginia criticized the tendency which, he said, seemed to characterize some of the speakers, to encourage class distinctions and similar "factionalism." His remarks followed addresses by several speakers who said the farmers were holding back the good roads projects because they believed them to be only "automobile roads."

"I believe the farmer is entitled to consideration," said Mr. Moss. "I think reckless drivers should have their licenses taken away from them. But I am also against the farmer who believes he has the exclusive right to the roads. The roads are for all the people, rich and poor. We should all stand shoulder to shoulder in this proposition and not encourage any factionalism."

Other speakers included Representative Kinkaid of Nebraska, Judge J. M. Lowe of Kansas City, Mo.; Pendleton

Same Road Re-located and Improved.

Beeley of Louisville, Ky.; Samuel H. Lea of South Dakota; Dell M. Potter of Clifton, Ariz.; C. C. Gilbert of Nashville, Tenn., and Col. Cameron.

Judge Lowe in his address declared that congress should not hesitate to appropriate money for good roads, as it has appropriated enough for rivers and harbors.

AIDS U. S. TRADE POWER

French Board Finds Its Country Will Not Be Aided by Canal.

Asserted American Manufacturer With New Facilities Will Rule World Markets.

Paris, Oct. 28.—France, the builder of the Suez canal and first to begin the work in Panama, has followed American progress on the isthmus more earnestly, perhaps, than any other country. The French government appointed a commission of four members to inquire into the effects of the opening of the canal on French shipping and trade in general and particularly on French colonies in the Americas and Oceania.

Only 256,000 tons of French shipping will use the new route during the first year of its opening, nor can the commission perceive that French tonnage passing through the canal will be likely to increase greatly, because the French mercantile marine generally tends toward a reduction rather than an expansion.

England and Germany will be the principal immediate beneficiaries, but America will, in the opinion of the commission, certainly take steps to promote a rapid growth of its mercantile shipping.

The United States, the investigators affirm, will obtain an incalculable advantage from the new canal, and Europe may even find its industrial activity diminished.

New York, Oct. 28.—Philippo Bunan-Varilla, French canal engineer, who arrived here from Panama after a four days' visit with Colonel Goethals, termed ridiculous the idea that another canal in that vicinity was feasible. "The only possible routes," he said, "are under control of the United States, with the exception of the Atrato River route in North Colombia. But it would be impossible to compete with the worst possible canal, such as that would be, when next to it is a perfect canal." Mr. Bunan-Varilla said he returned from Panama filled with admiration by what had been accomplished.

FUNK WITNESS VERY ILL

Mrs. Henning Breaks Down Following Ordeal on Stand.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Josephine Henning, principal witness for the state in the trial of Daniel Donahoe and Isaac Stiefel for conspiracy to defame Clarence S. Funk, collapsed after leaving the witness stand in Judge Pam's court. Her breakdown occurred in her room in the Alexandria hotel.

Physicians hastily summoned pronounced her condition serious. The collapse of Mrs. Henning came before her cross-examination was fairly under way and before she had been subjected to the severest tests which she must face. The state produced an affidavit which she admitted she had signed in Mr. Donahoe's office. This set forth her alleged relations with Mr. Funk. She identified her signature, but declared that she had never read the document and denied that she had answered questions as she was quoted in the affidavit.

METHODISTS HOLD MEET

Delegates Attend Convention in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—What promises to be one of the most important events in the history of the Methodist Episcopal church in America is the Methodist men's convention, which opened here today to continue to October 31. It is estimated there are about 3,000 delegates here, comprising all the Methodist bishops in this country, missionaries and clergymen to the number of 1,500, and about an equal number of prominent laymen of the church from every part of the country.

Two Football Players Injured.

Saginaw, Oct. 28.—Sidney Burdort and Homer Guindon, football players of Bay City, had a knee cap and collar bone snapped in an independent game here.

What Fashion Decrees for the Separate Coat

All the newer models in separate coats are inclined to draw in about the feet. There is also a very marked effort to show the elongated effect in the cutaway front and long paneled back.

Coats button close up at the throat and are cut from 36 to 42 inches long—few are full length. The dressier models are somewhat shorter than those designed for more practical wear.

Collars are indeed of the utmost importance, the most desirable being a variation of the board Directoire that spreads out flat on the shoulders with loops by which to fasten it close and high a universally becoming style and one that is well adapted to wear in our winter climate.

Many of the practical utility coats show the regulation coat sleeve, set in at the arm hole, but the dressier models demand the use of the Mandarin sleeve.

Bischof's Coats show all the important style changes. In their graceful, sweeping lines and clever cut you will find the most becoming coat you have ever worn. Come in and try them on. You will be interested in all the important little features that makethese garments so distinctive and modish.

FRIENDSHIP BASIS OF WILSON POLICY

President Says United States Will Help Latin Americans in Progress.

TO URGE HUMAN RIGHTS

Attempts at Exploiting People for Financial Gain to Be Suppressed, Says Chief Executive in Speech at Mobile, Ala.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 28.—While avoiding any mention specifically of Mexico, or any European influence connected with the Mexican situation, President Wilson delivered a speech which appeared to be freighted with significance and which served to point with directness the policy of the United States not only toward Mexico but toward all Central and South American republics.

"I want to take this occasion to say that the United States will never again seek another foot of territory on this continent by conquest," he declared, in a stirring address on Latin-American relations before the Southern Commercial congress.

Though Mr. Wilson did not mention Mexico as the afflicted country, he devoted his entire speech to a description of the degrading influence which foreign concessionaires had had upon the internal affairs of some of the Latin American countries.

With the Mexican situation uppermost in the president's mind at this time, his address was interpreted as an arraignment of those financial influences which it has been charged have secured in some cases recognition for the Huerta government.

"Come because I want to speak to our present and prospective relations with our neighbors to the south, the Latin-American states," said President Wilson in opening his address.

"Canal Opens World to South. The opening of the isthmus of Panama will open the world to the south," he said, "and the Latin-American states which have been off the main lines will now be on the main line."

"You hear of concessions to foreign capital in Latin-America," continued the president. "That concessions are not granted in the United States, that when capital comes it comes invited but is not privileged. The Latin-American states have had harder bargains driven with them than any other people in the world."

He said that the United States is trying to deal with them in terms of equality and honor and that the state department is now trying to deal with them in a new spirit. The development of constitutional liberty in the world was his dearest aim.

"America is a synonym for individual liberty," he declared. "Do not think that the questions of the day are mere questions of expediency. We will never condone inequality because it is convenient to do so."

Swiss Now Welcome Motor Cars.

The Swiss have relaxed their well known hostility to motoring somewhat. The barring of motor cars affected principally Lucerne, the center of all cosmopolitan tourists. This action was due to local efforts. The authorities of the canton of Schwyz, after stubborn resistance, have now yielded and will permit motoring along the Kussnacht road, whereby the Italo-Swiss through route is now free.

Dramatic Notes

DIXON OPERA HOUSE.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York has taken a keen interest in the question of minimum wage for women, and in fact many other phases of present day economies where women are concerned. It was principally because of her interest in department store conditions that she recently visited the play Within the Law, when that melodrama was having its successful run at the Eltinge theatre. She later wrote of it as follows: "I was among the first to see your wonderful play and ever since have urged my friends to go to see it." (Signed) Alva E. Belmont.

The play is to be presented at the opera house Thursday evening, Oct. 30.

FAMILY THEATRE

The Three Lorrettas at the Family have a comedy musical novelty, a prominent feature, introducing Russian dancing and playing at once.

The great Monahan, novelty skatortial artist, also introduces a high jump on skates and other difficult feats.

PRINCESS TREATIE.

ENGLAND U. S. ALLY IN MEXICO CRISIS

Great Britain Declared to Have
Proffered Aid to Uphold
Wilson's Policy.

FRANCE SEEKS PROTECTION

Election Returns Are Slow in Coming
In—No Official Report From Lind
to Bryan on Result—Huerta
Still Dictator.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Statements from the British foreign office that Great Britain would do nothing in the Mexican situation, now that the election had been held in the southern republic, without consultation with the United States, and an appeal from the French minister in Mexico for American protection for French citizens there, added strength to the intimations that the American government plans a note to the powers which may result in a concerted policy in the future.

Britain Bows to U. S.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Reports from the British foreign office that Great Britain would do nothing in the Mexican situation, now that the election had been held in the southern republic, without consultation with the United States, and an appeal from the French minister in Mexico for American protection for French citizens there, added strength to the intimations that the American government plans a note to the powers which may result in a concerted Mexican policy in the future.

Shown dispatches from London which asserted that Great Britain's recognition of Huerta was given to extend only until the elections, Secretary Bryan said that such had been the understanding in Washington all the time. Asked if a note was in preparation which would open the way for negotiations with the foreign powers, he said no statement would be given out at this time.

It was asserted generally that nothing would be done until there was official announcement from Mexico City on the outcome of Sunday's elections.

Secretary Bryan said that no direct communication had been received as to the result of the election for president. General belief, however, was that the newly elected Mexican congress would be seated, that the presidential election would be declared invalid and Huerta again chosen provisional president.

Asks U. S. Aid for French.

City of Mexico, Oct. 28.—The French minister has appealed to the American charge, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, for aid for the French colony at Santa Ignacio, Sinaloa. The place is said to have been taken by rebels and the French residents are in danger.

As no French war ship was available, the minister asked that an American war ship be sent.

Huerta to Receive German Officers.

City of Mexico, Oct. 28.—The commander and several officers of the German cruiser Hertha arrived from Vera Cruz. They will be received by President Huerta today.

DOCTOR FREED OF CHARGE

Dr. B. A. Arnold of Freeport, Ill., Acquitted by Jury.

Freeport, Ill., Oct. 28.—In the federal court Dr. Benjamin A. Arnold was acquitted of the charge of sending improper letters through the mails to Alta Rosenstiel after the court, upon motion of Assistant District Attorney Godman, had instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty. Mrs. Lena Enzler, who confessed she wrote the objectionable letters, was in court, but did not testify. Mr. Godman stating that the government was convinced as the result of her statement that Doctor Arnold was not the author of the letters. It was said the government would continue its investigation with the object of determining if persons other than Mrs. Enzler were implicated in the writing of the letters.

Thaw Granted Continuance.

Rochester, N. H., Oct. 28.—Harry K. Thaw's request for a further continuance in his extradition was granted by Governor Felker. The governor allowed the Thaw attorneys until November 4 to file briefs bearing on the indictment returned last week by the grand jury of New York county. Thaw had asked for a continuance of two weeks.

Truly a Neat Reply.

Owen Johnson says that the best example of repartee he has ever heard came from a New Haven book agent, who still, as in Johnson's day at Yale, is called "John Drew" by the students, because of his society manner. Johnson was a freshman then, living at Pierson hall. The book dealer knocked, entered, looked suavely about, and remarked, "Ah, I see some new faces this year." A would-be wit of Johnson's class responded, "Why, yes, we change them every year." Instantly the book agent replied, still more suavely, "Ah! I trust that you will get a better face next year, young sir!"

EUROPE'S GOOD ROADS

Regarded as Economic Factor of Life and Not a Fad.

Legacy Left by Romans Has Been Husbanded and Has Added to Prosperity of France—Austria Is Close Second.

The wide interest that the road question has for all classes in Europe is remarkable, and it is this unity of purpose that builds on the network legacy left by the Romans. Frances Milton writes in the Scientific American. Since that time, and that of the Henris and the Louises, to whom were due much of the elements of beauty that compose the French road system today, particularly with respect to tree planting alongside, and since the later day of the military road making genius of Napoleon much has been undertaken in the way of refinement which has produced, if not an actual money return, at least a prosperity which would otherwise have been unknown.

To be just there are as good roads in the United States today as in France. In top dressing, in comport with the needs of the new locomotion, according to any one of the four or five methods commonly made use of in America, results are superior even to anything yet achieved in Europe.

Brick is found on some roads of Holland, but it dates from before the motor car era, before even that famous pavement of Terre Haute, Ind., owning already to some twenty years and still good. Great claims of durability are made for brick, and if these two examples have any weight, the thing would seem to be worth something. In France there is a famous stretch of Route Nationale in the south, near Marseilles. Straight as an arrow, flat as a billiard table and smooth as marble, with a row of windbreak cypresses on the north, which in the writer's opinion is the nearly ideal roadway. French national, departmental and communal roads, as a class, are the best in the world.

In the French Alps are the finest mountain roads in Europe, far and away ahead of those of Switzerland on all counts. Many of them were due to the genius of Napoleon and his military road builders, and if their main purpose in times past was strategic, today they are essentially practical.

The mountain roads of Austria are a close second, particularly when it comes to considering them from the point of view of the motor car.

Italy has a nationalized roads system; so has Belgium, Austria and most of the German confederation. The first three meet the situation but partially, organization and control being decidedly inferior to that in France.

West Virginia Married Suddenly at Elkins, W. Va.

DUKE OF ABRUZZI LOSES HER

Member Royal Family Defied King to Woo U. S. Girl—Decision for Ceremony So Unexpected That Only Relatives Attend.

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 28.—Miss Katherine Elkins, rumors of whose engagement to the duke of the Abruzzi and to W. F. R. ("Billy") Hitt have been current in recent years, usually to be denied, was married to the latter here.

Although intimate friends and the family had expected it for two years, the wedding was a surprise throughout this section, and not even the mother of the bride was aware that preparations for the ceremony had been made by the couple until a few hours before it was performed.

The ceremony was witnessed only by the immediate family, at Halleyhurst, the Elkins home here. Former Senator Davis Elkins was the attendant of the groom, and Mrs. Blaine Elkins, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Rev. F. H. Barron, pastor of the Davis Memorial Presbyterian church here, was the clergyman.

The bride is also a granddaughter of former Senator Henry Gassaway Davis, and while the wedding was at two o'clock, so quietly had arrangements been made that even he was unaware of the event in prospect until just before noon, when William E. Baker, attorney for the Elkins family, obtained the marriage license.

Few Relatives Present.

Besides Mr. Davis and the attendants of the bridal pair, there were present Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, mother of the bride; Col. Richard Elkins of Philadelphia, a brother, and Mrs. Katherine Barnett of Washington, D. C.

Owing to the suddenness of the whole affair, no attention was paid to dress and the ceremony was most informal. It is said that Mr. Hitt's mother, residing in Washington, was apprised of the marriage by telegram.

So complete a surprise was the marriage that the family was unprepared with gifts for the bride and groom. This, however, did not prevent the distinguished grandfather of the bride from presenting his granddaughter with valuable bonds. Her mother made a large cash gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Hitt left on ex-Senator Davis' private car "Graceland" for the east, where they will spend a few days before going to a country place near Middleburg, Va., where they will spend the winter.

Wooded by Duke Abruzzi.

This bride has for years been prominent in the public eye, chiefly because of the attentions of the duke of the Abruzzi, a possible heir to the Italian throne. This royal personage for several years was a most persistent suitor for the hand of the charming southern beauty and heiress to the Elkins millions.

The infatuation of the duke for Miss Elkins quickly became international gossip. Although it never was officially confirmed, it is generally believed that an engagement existed between the two and was only broken through the efforts of Queen Margherita of Italy, who was violently opposed to the match.

Hitt Presses Suit.

For seven years Mr. Hitt had been an admirer of Miss Elkins, and even in the days when the dashing, handsome duke of the Abruzzi was supposed to be the favored one "Billy" Hitt, as he is known to his intimates and friends, did not give up hope.

"The duke or the American?" was the question which was asked for several years by high and low in Europe and in this country.

Mr. Hitt is the son of the late Representative R. R. Hitt of Illinois and is wealthy by inheritance. He is about thirty-two years old, good looking, a Yale graduate, an athlete and one of the most popular young men in Washington social circles. It was in that city that Mr. Hitt met Miss Elkins while her father was a United States senator.

Had there been a high wind from the west west or south the whole business district would undoubtedly have been wiped out. Considerable freight which was in the depot was also destroyed.

Lloyd Swab went to Sterling Wednesday.

In 1867 the La Crosse Association of Canada was formed and an Indian team visited Great Britain, creating great excitement. The game is one of real importance in the English sporting world.

McIntyre, says that before his wife left for a three months' visit to Toronto, Can., where she is visiting her parents, this is the way he rewarded her most palseworthy character. — Memphis Scimitar.

A LOVELY FACE— BUT UGLY HAIR

How often you see an otherwise lovely face spoiled by homely hair—a face that would be most charmingly beautiful if she only had prettier hair. What a pity!—and how foolish! Because that ugly hair, stringy, dull, lifeless looking though it may be, can be made as glossy, soft, silky and beautiful as the heart could desire if only taken proper care of.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or a hair oil—it is just a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, its natural wavy softness, its natural rich beauty. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you. In every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.

ERUPTION ON ANKLE GREAT SUFFERING

Many Nights Did Not Sleep. Burned All the Time. Wore Bandage Night and Day. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Well.

Kingsville, Mo.—"My trouble began eighteen years ago. Nearly half of the time there were running sores around my ankle; sometimes it would be two years at a time before they were healed. There were many nights I did not sleep because of the great suffering. The sores were deep running ones and so sore that I could not bear for anything to touch them. They would burn all the time and sting like a lot of bees were confined around my ankle. I could not bear to scratch it. It was always so sensitive to the touch. I could not let my clothes touch it. The skin was very red. I made what I called a cap out of white felt. Blotting paper and soft white cloth to hold it in shape. This I wore night and day.

"I tried many remedies for most of the eighteen years with no effect. Last summer when my ankle had been sore for over a year and much worse than ever before I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It would then and burn, besides a great hurting that I think tongue could never explain. The very first time I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment I gained relief; they relieved the pain right then. It was three months from the time I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment until the sores were entirely healed. I have not been troubled since." (Signed) Mrs. Charles E. Brooke, Oct. 22, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

Health.

Health is a state of physical, mental and moral equilibrium, a normal functioning of body, mind and soul. It is the state when work is a pleasure, when the world looks good and beautiful and the battle of life seems worth while. Health is the antithesis of disease, degeneracy and crime. The laws of health are as inexorable as the law of gravitation, as exacting as eternal justice, as relentless as fate, and their violation is the beginning and cause of all disease, suffering and sin. Health is the most desired of earthly blessings. When finally lost it cannot be purchased by uncounted millions, restored by the alienist or returned by the pulpit. Health is that state of happiness, faith and love whose prototype was the first man—Adam; whose ideal is the Christ.—S. J. Crumblin, M. D., Topeka, Kan.

Standing-Room Only.

According to statistics, the population of Paris is 2,700,000 and there exists a carriage for each forty-one inhabitants and a bicycle for sixteen. At this rate, making reasonable allowance for the smallness of Parisian families, hardly anyone needs to walk unless by choice. The total area of the streets of the capital is 924 hectares, and it is calculated that the united length of all the vehicles in use would cover an area of ninety-eight hectares. In other words, the accumulation of vehicles would represent about one-tenth of the surface of the city streets. As the number of vehicles is duplicated every fifty years, 1950 will find the number of vehicles in Paris too large for the city streets to contain, unless they are scattered evenly throughout the capital. But perhaps by the time Paris can no longer drive through the streets, it may be able to fly over them.

HIGH ONES SAFEST

Facts About Tall Buildings That Shake.

Delicate Instruments Record Lateral and Vertical Vibrations—Evidence of Seismograph and Treadometer Used in Suits for Damages.

The towering skyscrapers, despite their massive appearance, are rarely absolutely at rest. An almost continuous series of vibrations passes over New York's massive skyline, says the Sun of that city. The rush of street traffic, the action of engines and elevators, the tricks of wind pressure are constantly setting up wave motions throughout the great structure of steel and masonry. The fact that these buildings are, within certain limits, elastic, is of course an assurance of their safety. Accidents from too much vibration are practically unheard of.

The problem of the vibrations is perhaps nowhere so complicated as in downtown New York. Here are grouped, of course, the greatest collection of skyscrapers to be found anywhere in the world. The constant passing of subway trains at the very base of these buildings tends to set up vibrations in every direction. The elevated railroads and the surface cars cause still other vibrations. In every office building again will be found considerable machinery for running the elevators and performing other work. This is usually located in the lower basements at the roots of the foundations and the waves thus set in motion travel, to the extreme height of the structure. The wind pressure is another important factor.

In order to know exactly how a building is affected by these vibrations several extremely delicate instruments have been invented. They are adaptations of the familiar seismograph used to record earthquakes, although less complicated and sensitive. The commoner form, the seismograph, is used to measure lateral vibrations. Another machine, the treadometer, measures the vertical vibrations.

The general principle of the apparatus in both cases is very simple. The seismograph consists of a metal table supported by screws so contrived that the surface may be placed in an absolutely horizontal position. On this table rests a sheet of heavy glass on four steel balls, which are perfectly spherical. Above the glass plate is an adjustable needle which passes back and forth along a sliding bar.

A piece of smoked paper is laid on the glass and the needle adjusted to touch the surface. And vibration of the building is taken up by the steel balls so that the glass on them remains absolutely stationary. The needle, however, vibrates exactly like the floor beneath it and scratches a fine, ragged line along the surface of the smoked paper. This line records the vibration of the building with scientific accuracy.

In the treadometer a heavy weight is suspended by a long vertical string so delicate that it responds to the slightest vibration. A long arm carrying a pen is attached to the lower section of the string. A very slight vibration is magnified by the apparatus, and the pen at the end of the arm traces an irregular line as the spring moves ever so slightly up or down.

The pen is set above a sheet of paper which is moved by clockwork. The paper is placed about a drum which revolves once in 24 hours. The irregular line traced by the pen thus records the vibrations of the building for one day.

The records of these instruments are used at times in court to decide damage cases in which the vibration of buildings figures. There may be great difference of opinion as to the damage done by the vibration, but the records of the seismograph and treadometer are accepted as accurate. In a recent case suit was brought to recover damages alleged to have been caused by the vibration set up by machinery in operation. A number of printing presses, it was said, had caused such vibration that the walls were finally cracked. Several witnesses visited the building, but their testimony was contradictory. The readings of the apparatus told the true story, however, and the damages were awarded on this evidence.

The most violent vibrations are not found in the highest buildings, as might be imagined, but often in structures three or four stories high of old construction. Such buildings are of solid masonry, and therefore have little elasticity, and cannot take up the wave motion. When heavy machinery, such as printing presses, for instance, is set in such a building, the jar will be very perceptible on every floor.

The structure of the modern skyscraper is entirely different and far safer. In it the brick or stone is merely a shell hung upon a great steel structure. The steel riveted together is more or less elastic. A building of say 40 stories could vibrate like a giant tuning fork, could even crack and loosen the brick and masonry, and yet not be in danger of being injured.

The vibrations in a building may be shown with a spoonful of water in a small dish. A glass dish is better for the purpose, a watch crystal is just the thing. Let this be set in any building in the busy, crowded parts of the city and you will find a frequent vibration. The test may be made more delicate by placing a few drops of mercury in the receptacle. You will find that the surface of the liquid is constantly vexed by minute waves.

Derivation of "Cop."

"When the policemen are referred to as 'cops' or 'coppers,' it is a very legitimate and historical appellation," said the old-timer. "You've never heard whence the term was derived? Well, here it is. 'The first uniformed police force succeeded the old night watch, in the early days of the English possession, and the patrolmen wore large shields of copper. They were burnished until they could be seen shining like a beacon in the reflected rays of the sun, and even at night scintillated in the light of the torches which were forerunners of the white lights of Broadway. In no time the policemen were known as 'coppers.' Pert Young America found that too long, and 'cop' was the result."

Purely Mental.

Mrs. Holden had been blessed with remarkable eyesight all her life. It was a great trial to her when, at the age of seventy-two, she was obliged to put on "reading glasses." "But they are really becoming to you, Aunt Hilda," said a gentle niece, by way of consolation. "No, they aren't," said Mrs. Holden, with her usual scorn for compliment. "Anybody's eyes look better without a glass in front of 'em, and you know it." "But you couldn't read without them," ventured the niece, "and you love—"

"I could, too, read without 'em," said the old lady, refusing to be soothed. "I could read most as well as ever, but I couldn't sense it all—that's the only trouble."—Youth's Companion.

Test of Sanity.

The ability to remain both sober and gracious under high reward or great responsibility is a quality that we greatly admire in others. To retain a simple and open mind after doing something that is acknowledged to be of merit is one of the rarest accomplishments of sanity. It makes for pleasantness in abundant measure.

Indeed it does more than this, it makes living possible, paves the way to success, begets good will, conquers hatred and uncharitableness—in short it is the substance of comity, the evidence of grace, and the proof of a large mind that is sane.—Atlantic.

Profitable Bunko Scheme.

Among the extraordinary frauds which have been perpetrated was one put into operation by a company of schemers who told a confiding public that many fortunes were to be made by importing into England compressed dried grapes from Spain, Italy and elsewhere, then saturating them with good English water, and making wine from them. It was stated in the prospectus that dried grapes could be imported at a much cheaper rate than wine, and that it was possible to produce an equal quantity of wine of equal quality to that made abroad. Thousands of pounds were subscribed by the British public, who firmly believed in the idea until the scheme collapsed.

Middle Verse of Bible.

The middle verse of the Bible is the eighth verse of the 118th Psalm. The twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter J. The longest verse is the ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the ninth verse of the eleventh chapter of St. John.

In the Wrong Shop.

An old gentleman walked up to the pretty girl attendant at the counting room of a daily newspaper office and said: "Miss, I would like to get copies of your paper for a week back."

"You had better get a porous plaster," she abstractedly replied. "You get them just across the street."

How Men Judge Dress.

In discussing the problem of what a woman should wear, if she desires to please a man, Emily Post says, in the current number of Dress that outline and color, most especially outline, are to be considered first. But whether the lace is real and the embroidery by hand he has no idea, she declares. If women dressed for men, they would spend about a tenth of what they now do. Certain things men appreciate, softness of textures and beauty of cut—a man is very appreciative of cut—especially of nice finish, good lines, good colors, but when it comes to this year's fashion or the fashion of before the flood—he does not know a thing.

Flames From the Sea.

Strollers along the Esplanade at Oban, Argyshire, Scotland, the other night were met by an unwanted spectacle. Opposite the Alexandra Hotel great tongues of white flames were seen leaping straight out of the sea not far from the beach. The phenomenon continued for about an hour, and drew a large crowd of onlookers, who speculated freely as to the cause. Stones were thrown in upon the flames, but had no effect. No conclusive solution of the mystery could be offered, but it is explained that the apparently strange occurrence was due to a quantity of hydro-carbon, which had been thrown into the sea.

Ownership of the Air.

The question of the proprietorship of the air has been raised by an action brought against M. Maurice Farman, the airman, by farmers whose lands surround his aerodrome at Buc, France. The complaint of the disturbance caused by the too frequent passage of aeroplanes over their land, claim heavy compensation, and ask for the prohibition of flying at a height less than 650 feet. Other aeronautical manufacturers have associated themselves with M. Farman in defending the suit, which has been set down for hearing next month.

Filial Self-Sacrifice.

Asking that a sentence of three years in jail imposed upon his father be imposed upon him and that his own sentence of two years in jail be reversed to his father, a young man broke down in the Criminal court in Baltimore, Md., one recent morning and wept bitterly. The judge complied with the prisoner's unusual request and the lad seemed much relieved when given the chance to exchange sentences with his father, giving the elder man the benefit of one year. They were arrested some time ago on a charge of obtaining money through bogus checks passed upon tobaccoists and confectioners. Several days ago they were convicted. Touched by the loyalty of his partner in crime, the elder man asked that the original sentence be adhered to, but the judge carried out the reversal.

Dangerous to Motorists.

With the coming of spring, it is said, those who own motor cars in a certain section of Massachusetts operate them with considerably less speed, not, however, always because of the county ordinances or out of consideration for their fellow citizens' safety. On one occasion two motorists were crawling up a highway where lately a friend (then riding with one of them) knew they had formerly gone at top speed. The friend asked why the car was running so slowly. "Why," explained the driver of the car, with perfect naivete, "everybody's carrying home garden tools now, and you can't run over a man without risking a puncture."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Frisco Plans a Great Fete.

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—San Francisco expects to outdo all its previous efforts in the production of carnivals when the Portola festivities, commemorative on the discovery of the Pacific ocean 400 years ago, open here tomorrow with a three day program.

Facts in Nature

FOR centuries it has been known that Nature's most valuable health giving agents for the cure of disease are found in our American forests. Over forty years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N.Y., used the powdered extracts as well as the liquid extracts of native medicinal plants, such as Bloodroot and Queen's root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Cherry bark and Mandrake, for the cure of blood diseases. This prescription as put up in liquid form was called

Ruins of Old Roman Fort.

A Roman fort has been found on the farm of Mumrills, near Laurieston, Dumfriesshire, a mile or so to the east of Falkirk, Scotland. While plowing operations were in progress in a field on the farm referred to there were laid bare the foundations and ruined walls which had been buried for centuries. Several of the roads or streets were traceable. A local antiquarian expert, having been advised of the discovery, assisted in the search.

Genuine Maple Sugar.

There are few people outside the maple sugar making districts, says a writer in the Country Gentleman, who really know what the genuine article tastes like. The superior flavor thus spoken of is probably due in a degree to the same causes that make strawberries eaten off the vine and cherries consumed on the tree so delectable. The writer quoted, however, puts some of the blame for the poor flavor of commercial maple sugar on the "wily wholesale dealer and mixer."

To Minimize Accidents.

An interesting method of educating the public in the prevention of street accidents, which possesses possibilities in other directions, employed by the Boston Elevated Railway company, is commented on in a recent number of the Journal of the American Medical association. The railway company offered a large number of prizes to high school pupils for the best specimens of verses containing instruction and caution in the way of prevention of traffic accidents on the streets which would appeal particularly to children. The plan created great interest among the school children, and a large number of answers were received. The company awarded about 200 prizes, the largest being for $50.

"Genuine Antiques" Scarce.

Buyers of antique furniture are advised by House and Garden that it is now almost impossible to "pick up" genuine antiques in this country.

The Champagne of Bottled Beer

You don't know the taste of good beer unless you've tried HIGH LIFE in light bottles—the "finest tasting beer ever produced."

The very next time you order bottled beer do not merely say "Give me a bottle of beer." Make your demand clear and concise. Use these words—"Give me HIGH LIFE in the Light Bottle"—and insist on getting it.

We are educating consumers to use this high grade beer in light bottles—and to distinguish common beer in dark bottles. Convince yourself—order a case today.

Brewed in Milwaukee by the Miller Brewing Co.

On sale at leading Buffets, on Dining Cars and Steamship Lines.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE AND THE BROWN BOTTLE FARCE

An evidence of the intelligence of the American people is shown plainly in their positive rejection of the arguments advanced by the brown bottle advocates.

This is just another instance where the people are content to pass judgment based on their daily experiences, rather than on the laughable side show tactics employed to discredit beer bottled in light bottles.

P. T. Barnum whitewashed an elephant and called it a sacred animal. The white wash did not change its religion or politics. Every beer consumer knows or ought to know that high grade beer in light bottles is unimpaired by any ordinary influence for common beer.

On the question of the use of brown bottles, Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology, the highest authorities on brewing in the United States, has this to say, and for the use of light bottles for good beer—

"FOR SUCH BEERS THE LIGHT BOTTLE IS PREFERABLY EMPLOYED because it can more readily be inspected before filling to insure thorough cleanliness, and because the finished product reveals at a glance whether the intended requirements of the consumer as to color, clarity and freedom from sedimentation, are very truly."

"WAHL-HENIUS INSTITUTE OF FERMENTOLOGY."

London Plays a New Game.

There is a new game which sports men are playing. To travel by train the greatest distance in twenty-four hours—on paper. For it is played with a Bradshaw. The astonishing idea of studying Bradshaw for pleasure recalls Lord Chatham's hobby. Lord Chatham boasted that he had read Bradshaw's dictionary through twice. And there was another genius who found consolation in queer literary fields. Lord Chief Justice Cockburn had no need of the new novel. He read Euclid "Even now," he said, "I often read some pages of it for pleasure." There is no accounting for literary tastes, as the man said who read Bradshaw and Bailey and Euclid!—London Chronicle

Automatic Stamp Seller.

London has found yet another piece of mechanism to delight its heart in a new automatic stamp selling machine recently erected in the public office of the general postoffice. It is one of a hundred to be supplied to all the branch postoffices in the London postal area. It supplies half-penny as well as penny stamps, and has an arrangement for detecting and returning all coins not of the same weight or size as pennies and half-pennies. Foreign coins, "bad coins" and coins of other values are automatically rejected.

Both Sides of It.

"What's the use of disturbing the present system?" asked the man who had just received a quarterly dividend check of large proportions. "What's the use of keeping it as it is?" came the answering question from the man who had spent the day looking for work, but without finding it.—Life.

Qualifications for Success.

One secret of the life successful in any quarter is perseverance. "The story of genius even, so far as it can be told, is the story of persistent industry in the face of obstacles." "Perseverance is the statesman's thought, the warrior's sword, the inventor's secret, the scholar's open sesame." Robertson Nicoll's four qualifications for success in life are: (1) a definite object in view; (2) a determination not to be defeated; (3) the capacity for exercising continual self-denial, and (4) a certain belief in one's own powers. George William Curtis expressed an evident truth when he said "an engine of one cat power running all the time is more effective than one of forty horsepower standing still."—Christian Science Monitor.

Mrs. Fairchild's Distinction.

Mrs. George W. Fairchild is among the best gowned women in the congressional set in Washington. One of her dinner gowns is a model on which the ceremonial robes of the summer will be built. It is a trained robe of heavy cream satin, with panels of blue chiffon extending back, front and on the sides from the low cut bodice and ending at the hem in tassels of crystal and cut steel beads. The diamond necklace which Mrs. Fairchild wears with many of her ceremonial gowns follows the prevailing style in resembling a delicate pattern of lace. It is about three inches in width and fits as snugly as a glove.

Strive to Be Kind.

Is not the sin of sins unkindness? Because of it tears flow, hopes die, friendships are strained, and hearts well high broken. Not to be kind widens the breach between rich and poor, labor and capital, the fortunate and the unfortunate. Just to be kind heartens the discouraged, strengthens the weak, and makes heavy loads easy to carry. Be kind to those about you. It costs you little or nothing and is the best investment you can make. The returns will come back in compound interest. Your employees, your friends, your household, even your foes, will respond to kindness.—J. Wilbur Chapman.

Against Bogus Cripples.

The bona-fide maimed and lame beggars of Paris streets have formed an association for the defense of their privileges against the impostors who encroach on their beats. The president has been received by M. Bourgeois, the minister of public works who promises to consider their demand of a certificate after medical examination. This will hinder, they maintain, an honorable professor from being dragged by bogus cripples who are seldom brought to justice.

ICEBERG PERILS LINER

TEUTONIC JUST MISSES FATE OF TITANIC AT SEA.

Quick Reversal of Engines and With Helm Hard Aport Ship Grazes Ice.

Liverpool, Oct. 28.—The White Star liner Teutonic, which arrived here from Montreal, had a narrow escape from meeting the same fate as the Titanic when it ran so close to an iceberg 172 miles east of Bells Isle, off Newfoundland coast, that it was prevented from crashing into it only by reversing its engines and putting the helm hard aport. The liner passed within twenty feet of the iceberg.

The fog was so thick that even at that small distance the berg could scarcely be distinguished. It was so close that there was danger that the propeller of the ship would strike it as the vessel went around.

The passengers were not aware of their peril until it had been averted. They signed a testimonial to the captain and his officers expressing their gratitude and admiration for the skill and skill displayed by them.

METHODIST MEN'S MEET ON

Over 3,000 Delegates Are Present at Opening of Convention in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—What promises to be one of the most important events in the history of the Methodist Episcopal church in America is the Methodist men's convention, which opened here today to continue to October 31. It is estimated there are about 3,000 delegates here, comprising all the Methodist bishops in this country, missionaries and clergymen to the number of 1,500, and about an equal number of prominent laymen of the church from every part of the country.

IRISH LABOR HEAD TO JAIL

Convicted of Sedition and Inciting Riots in Dublin; Given Seven Months.

Dublin, Ireland, Oct. 28.—James Larkin, leader of the striking Irish transport workers, was found guilty on charges of sedition and inciting to riot. He was sentenced to seven months' imprisonment. The attorney general in opening the case for the prosecution said Larkin had been prosecuted, not because he was a labor leader, but because he was "a wicked and dangerous criminal."

Englishmen Are Larger Today.

There was a tournament as a feature of the Shakespearean England show at Earl's court. As a result the discovery has been made that Englishmen are much bigger today than they were in the age of chivalry. Old armor, it is found, is far too small for the modern titlers and there was a great scurry to get new corselets, greaves and other parts ready in time. The shoulders of the moderns are much broader and their legs and arms are thicker. The change is attributed to the effect of generations of outdoor sport on the British physique.

Oysters are now caught by steamers, power boats and fast sailing vessels, delivered promptly at the shipping houses. They are thus not subject to the delays formerly experienced. They are kept cold by artificial refrigeration and by pure art. The oysters, either in shell or opened, are now shipped from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific, arriving there in as perfect condition as when taken from the water. There is no place in the United States or British America where the railroads penetrate in which oysters cannot be received in perfect condition.

A quart of bulk Oysters weighs two pounds at 40c per quart equals 20c per pound and no waste. They are not a luxury. They are a cheap meat.
